atter of sprinklers
quenching thirsty summer flowers
Muted laughter of adults
sifting from well-scrubbed windows

Hush of a shiny building
recalling happier days

Ringmaster Rodd launches school with Student Council patio circus

"Happy Face" tags worn by a majority of students the opening week of school evidenced the new optimistic attitude toward student activities which predominated in Knightland.

Sweeping changes in the activity program were launched by the new activities director, Mrs. Patrisha Nicholson, and her Leadership Committee.

A new concept in student government was initiated by 12 officers and committees meeting regularly all summer to plan projects.

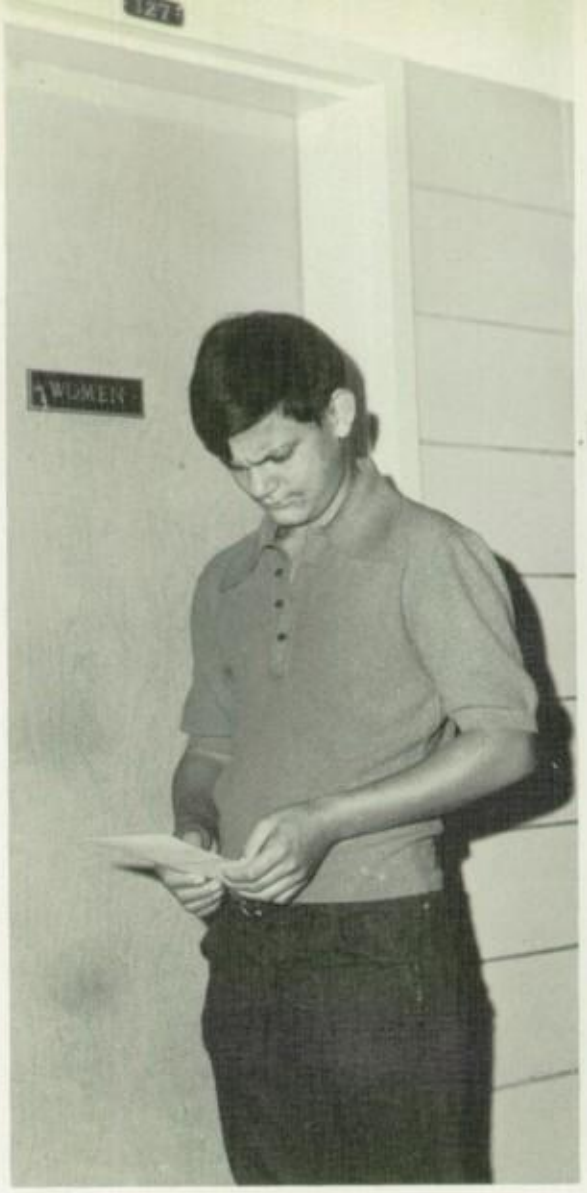
Noontime events on the patio the first week included turtle races, frisbee tournaments, and banana-eating contests.

Culminating the week's activities was an old-fashioned picnic and watermelon feast at Will Rogers Park.

New spirit tags, bumper stickers, and pennants were on sale in the Student Store along with Northwest antenna flags.

Again the dress code was relaxed, and students in the Oklahoma City school district were permitted to wear any apparel that "does not interfere with the educational process." No restrictions on hair were made.

Counselor's offices were jammed, as usual, with students seeking schedule changes. But there was no mass confusion as there was last year when the Cluster Plan first went into effect.



PARENTS' NIGHT HOST, David Hart, presents a copy of the Shield to Mrs. Wallace Smith and Dr. Smith, Director of Building and Grounds for the City schools, when they arrive for the August 26 orientation.

STEPPING SMARTLY out in front of the band are Rodney Moore, drum major, and Brenda Anderson, drum majorette.

Fans roar welcome to homecoming grads

Imaginative spirit signs, crepe papered halls, queen coronation assembly, all-school parade, and an after-game mixer highlighted Homecoming festivities October 8.

"Knights on the Move" was the theme selected for the decor of floats and assembly appointments.

Jim Beesley, O-Club president, was general chairman of the assembly. Barbara Stoldt and Rick Metheny emceed the show.

Sylvester Smith, Advanced Modern Dance and Cry-Slurs provided the entertainment.

Following the parade, a Student Council committee selected the best floats.

The Key Club-Courtesy Club float won for originality, and seniors rated first in the class category for the second straight year.

Although game activities were marred by light rain, yellow balloons were released by pep clubbers as David Hart, announcer, gave a special welcome to grads.

At halftime of the John Marshall game a parade around the track included Queen Cindi and her court, the prize winning floats and the band's performance of the 1812 Overture as a stirring climax.

act—It's Christmas time in Knightland!

Casting a spell over Knightland, the Yuletide spirit was reflected in traditions perpetuated by Northwest advisories, clubs and organizations.

Directed by Student Council, advisories for the third year adopted underprivileged children; some groups gave up class parties to spend $30 or more for gifts.

The children were asked to name the Christmas present they would most like to receive.

Cosmetology students styled and set hair for a busload of girls from the Cerebral Palsy Center and provided donated hairpieces for women at the county home for the aged.

Club members busied themselves with service projects, the Cry-Slurs caroled at Shepherd Mall, and the faculty caught the holiday spirit as they arrived at school December 22 for a 7 a.m. breakfast hosted by the administration.

Advanced clothing students dressed dolls for 37 needy children as part of a local bank's contest.

The art department coordinated efforts to decorate the building.

A nine-foot tree in the main office, intricate mobiles, and customized wreaths for the windows were provided.

Holiday parties were anticipated by Knights as friends arrived from college for Christmas vacation.

Surprises mark incredible year

It once seemed like science fiction, but now it's for real!

Giant strides in the space program, dramatic changes in medicine, a new threshold of development in metro-Oklahoma City, a display by students of more deep-rooted desires to help mankind, and the constant procession of significant happenings marked the year '71-72.

The Vietnam War dragged on as presidential candidates poised for the '72 elections.

Political furor kept local citizens in a whirl as this city became the first of its size to elect a lady mayor, Mrs. Patience Latting.

School problems mounted with the prospect of increased busing to improve racial balance.

Influenced by the impact of the new 18 year old vote, students formed groups to push for reform in policy from capitol to precinct.

Stirred by the realization that they had an urgent stake in American life, Knights responded by enthusiastic involvement in the political and civic life of the community and nation.

Brrr! Okies brave ski trails for holiday

Tempo of life quickened as Knights marked the passing of first semester and faced the final phase of the school year.

Friendships and group activities continued to grow and develop.

Student Council sponsored a ski trip to Minnesota during the Christmas holidays for 24 students.

An unusual occurrence was the closing of schools Friday January 28 when city streets were covered with ice.

When first semester grades came out, tradition was upheld when more girls than boys rated straight-A's for the sixteenth straight semester.

Three royalty selections were made in January as students cast votes for Knight and Lady of Round Table and Friendship and Miss Black NWC.

ARRIVING in Minneapolis, Minnesota, for a five-day ski trip are 24 Knights.

Curtains, lights, action—show gets under way

"I could strangle her!!"

Vexation and excuses for all occasions were part of "The Impossible Years," a fast-paced comedy by Bob Fisher and Arthur Marx presented October 15 and 16 in the auditorium.

Dr. Jack Kingsley, a mature, qualified psychiatrist, tried to cope with his precocious seventeen-year-old daughter, Linda, in Knights' Theatre's first production of the year, directed by Mrs. Betty Allred and student director, Cindy Chesher.

Dr. Kingsley, Phil Farley, applied psychiatric principles to his daughter, Julie Jacobs, but discovered that such measures don't always work.

Other cast members were Kathy Tuel, Lance Clarkson, Martha Walker, David Haynes, Wendy Runnels, Tina Warren.

Stagecraft director was Mr. James Morehead.

Assisting with technical aspects of the production were senior Shirley Clanton, juniors Susan Otto and Pat Achramowicz, sophomores Mary Ervin, Vicke Bunch, and Clarelaine Aubrey.

These girls were the first in several years to participate in stagecraft. They worked all school productions as well as on sound, light, carpentry and fly crews.

Lively activities stir Knightland in springtime

From March through May, the school calendar was punctuated with "fun" type activities.

Fresh interest in school life was generated by outdoor social and athletic events.

Two Iranian students, Mohammed Schoeibi and his sister, Nayer, enrolled at Northwest for the spring semester.

Mohammed, a soccer specialist, entertained gym classmates with his distinctive kicking style.

Departments sponsored interesting projects.

Child care classes operated a nursery school for five weeks. Each student picked a child as the subject of his term paper.

Advanced cooking classes baked and decorated a wedding cake for a mock wedding.

Honor groups held initiations, and seniors braced for the final whirl of graduation events.

SPRING INITIATE, Sherri Hand, lights her candle during Honor Society ceremony.

School focuses on black culture Heritage Week

Increasing interracial understanding was emphasized through special Black Heritage Week activities sponsored by the Human Relations Council February 14-18.

Lunchtime ghetto games on the patio, special music and art displays, soul food luncheon and soul pep assembly, and rap sessions were featured.

On Afro Dress Day a style show was presented. Black students modeled such attire as Dashiki, Kila Kitu, and Tiki.

Coronation of Miss Black NWC, Gail Parker, highlighted the week's activities.

The Gospel Chorus and the Cold Sweat band performed during the ceremony.

George France and Mike Thomas served as emcees of the show.

READY TO GO onstage for the Afro style show are models Jaquita Ragsdale, Truitt Carrington, Charlotte Matthews in Dashiki, Kila Kitu, and Tiki African styles.

Dale Robertson emcees annual yearbook show

Ten seniors were nominated for Round Table Royalty by members of the publications staff October 13.

Journalism students named these candidates from the roster of seniors on the Round Table and Shield staffs.

The campaign was culminated by a display of posters in the show window of the activities office and an all-school election January 25.

Surprise announcement of the Knight and Lady of Round Table highlighted the traditional assembly May 19.

Barbara Stout, Student Council assembly chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

Jeff Ritter joined Barbara in emceeing the show.

Special numbers included modern dancers, a trio and music by Tim Daly's Rockits.

Problems never cease for policy makers

No stranger to major problems, the School Board, Superintendent Bill Lillard, and his staff were confronted with continuing controversial issues.

After President Richard Nixon declared a wage-price freeze in September, a question arose as to the validity of teachers' salary raises.

Educators joined to protest interpretations of the Office of Emergency Preparedness in administering the order.

After the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the Oklahoma City school district to desegregate further, two consultants were appointed by the courts to submit recommendations.

Findings of these consultants, suggesting an expanded integration program which involved increased busing of students, was generally unpopular.

On open board meeting was held November 8 for citizens to register their objections to the plan.

Dr. Lillard cited a 15-18 per cent increase in participation in the Cluster Plan as evidence that the integration plan was progressing.

At the heart of the plan, 10 high schools specialized in either advanced science or math.

The program was expanded this year as Northwest, for example, added four new "cluster courses": World Literature, Government and Economics, Anthropology, and Ancient History.

By the end of the first quarter, enrollment in the City schools reached 70,395, including 34,556 secondary students.

Because of social trends towards suburban living, Northwest's 1971-72 enrollment, as of October 1, dropped to 2,633, considerably lower than the 1965 peak of 3,150 students.

Open door policy reflects credo of responsive administrative team

Expanded curriculum offerings, new equipment, and a major landscape beautification project marked the opening of school.

To orient parents and students, Dr. June Dawkins, principal, supplied material for a pre-school issue of The Shield in which he spelled out guidelines for school policies.

For teachers, he distributed a 250-page handbook covering all aspects of school procedures.

A new assistant principal, Mr. Ray Thompson, replaced Mr. Harold Crain, who went to U.S. Grant as principal of the southside school.

Mrs. Carolyn Wakely was named Coordinator of Counselors, and Mrs. Kay Barry joined the counseling staff.

Each administrator and counselor had special responsibilities which contributed to the total effort.

Supervising discipline, IBM procedures, campus safety, teacher evaluation, scheduling, preparing daily bulletins and directing student teachers were some of their responsibilities.

A security guard, Mr. Jim Clark, was added this year to patrol the school's parking lots.

Staff makes mark in professional groups

Classroom duties came first for teachers, but they also played leadership roles in civic and professional organizations.

Mr. Al Engel, history teacher, and Mr. Robert Hepp, art instructor, represented Northwest's faculty in the Oklahoma City Classroom Teachers, as well as in other professional groups.

Mr. Engel was commended in a City personnel memo from Dr. Bill Lillard, superintendent, for his leadership as chairman of the Committee on Civic Responsibility. He headed the drive for teacher voting registration.

Counselor Troy Milburn served as chairman of the State Convention of the Oklahoma Personnel and Guidance Association at Fountainhead Lodge this spring.

Mr. Hepp was elected president of the City Secondary Art Teachers Association and secretary-treasurer of the state OEA art section.

Mrs. Pat Nicholson was reelected president of the State Activities Directors Association, and Mr. Leonard Marcotte served as president of the Alliance Francaise, city organization which promotes the French language and culture.

Mrs. Mollie Davidson acted as coordinator, and Mrs. Gwen Hanger, and Mrs. Nellie Ecton, all Northwest mathematics teachers, served on the hospitality committee when the National Council of Mathematics convened in Oklahoma City October 7-9.

Mrs. Davidson, past District Governor of the Pilot Club, was a guest speaker at convention in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Charlotte Eaker, journalism and English teacher, conducted a session at the National Scholastic Press Association convention in Chicago Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Liz Burdette appeared on the NCTE (National Council of Teachers of English) program in Las Vegas at the same time.

Teachers tap Engel for leadership role

SPRING BREAK is a good time for Mrs. Mildred Fields, business teacher, to paint.

Recognition was extensive for Northwest's staff, whose interests ranged from politics, sports, and travel, to professional growth.

Mrs. Eve Williamson was selected one of 10 "Distinguished" Graduates at Central State University's ballroom October 15 and her picture added to the school's Hall of Fame.

She also served on Governor David Hall's Education Committee.

Mrs. Earlene Herman and Mrs. Mary Lochridge received Honorable Mention in national competition for Economics Teacher of the Year.

They were cited for their development of a pilot program on the high school level.

Mrs. Carolyn Wakely, counselor, Mrs. Elaine Brown, dance instructor, and Mr. Leonard Marcotte sponsored student groups traveling to Europe last summer.

The Newspaper Fund, a foundation sponsored by the Wall Street Journal, awarded 10 U.S. journalism teachers, including Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette, a grant for journalism learning center use.

Varied services aid Knights 'on the move'

Secretaries and workers "behind the scenes" kept pace with the demanding needs of daily routine in Knightland.

Responsibilities of office help varied from keeping financial records, operating business machines and telephone switchboards to cataloguing books and ordering supplies.

The Materials center was staffed by three secretaries who assisted in preparing teaching materials while the Audio-visual office supplied equipment to enrich classroom activities.

The custodial force of 17 men and 2 women maintained the building and grounds and kept electrical and mechanical operations running smoothly.

The 24 ladies employed in the school cafeteria accommodated students and teachers by serving breakfast as well as lunch.

During Black Heritage Week, cafeteria workers prepared "soul food" for some 300 students.

Since Northwest's school plant is the largest in the area, special meetings and dinners were held here throughout the year. These events necessitated extra work for the custodial and cafeteria staffs.

LITERALLY COVERED UP with paper work, Mrs. Helen Evans, who serves as secretary to the principal, manages to "keep her cool" despite constant interruptions.

Reflections of the arts were viewed through endeavors of the speech and art departments.

Constant practice guided unsteady novice debaters to the polished poise of professionals. Placing in numerous novice tournaments gave encouragement to young debaters.

Advanced debaters again swept honors throughout the year.

The newly initiated "Opening Doors" program gave advanced dramatists opportunities to exhibit their trade to elementary school children.

Machine apparatus and human imagination lent effect to advanced jewelry and sculpture classes.

Young artists submitted their work to Young Talent, an honor exhibition held yearly at the Oklahoma Art Center. Those winning acceptance included Linda Boyle, Larry Miller, and Debbie Cox.

Outlets sought through media for expression

English and journalism classes experienced a wide variety of educational and cultural activities during the course of the year.

Films, play productions, guest speakers and class excursions highlighted a year of continued integration of the language arts.

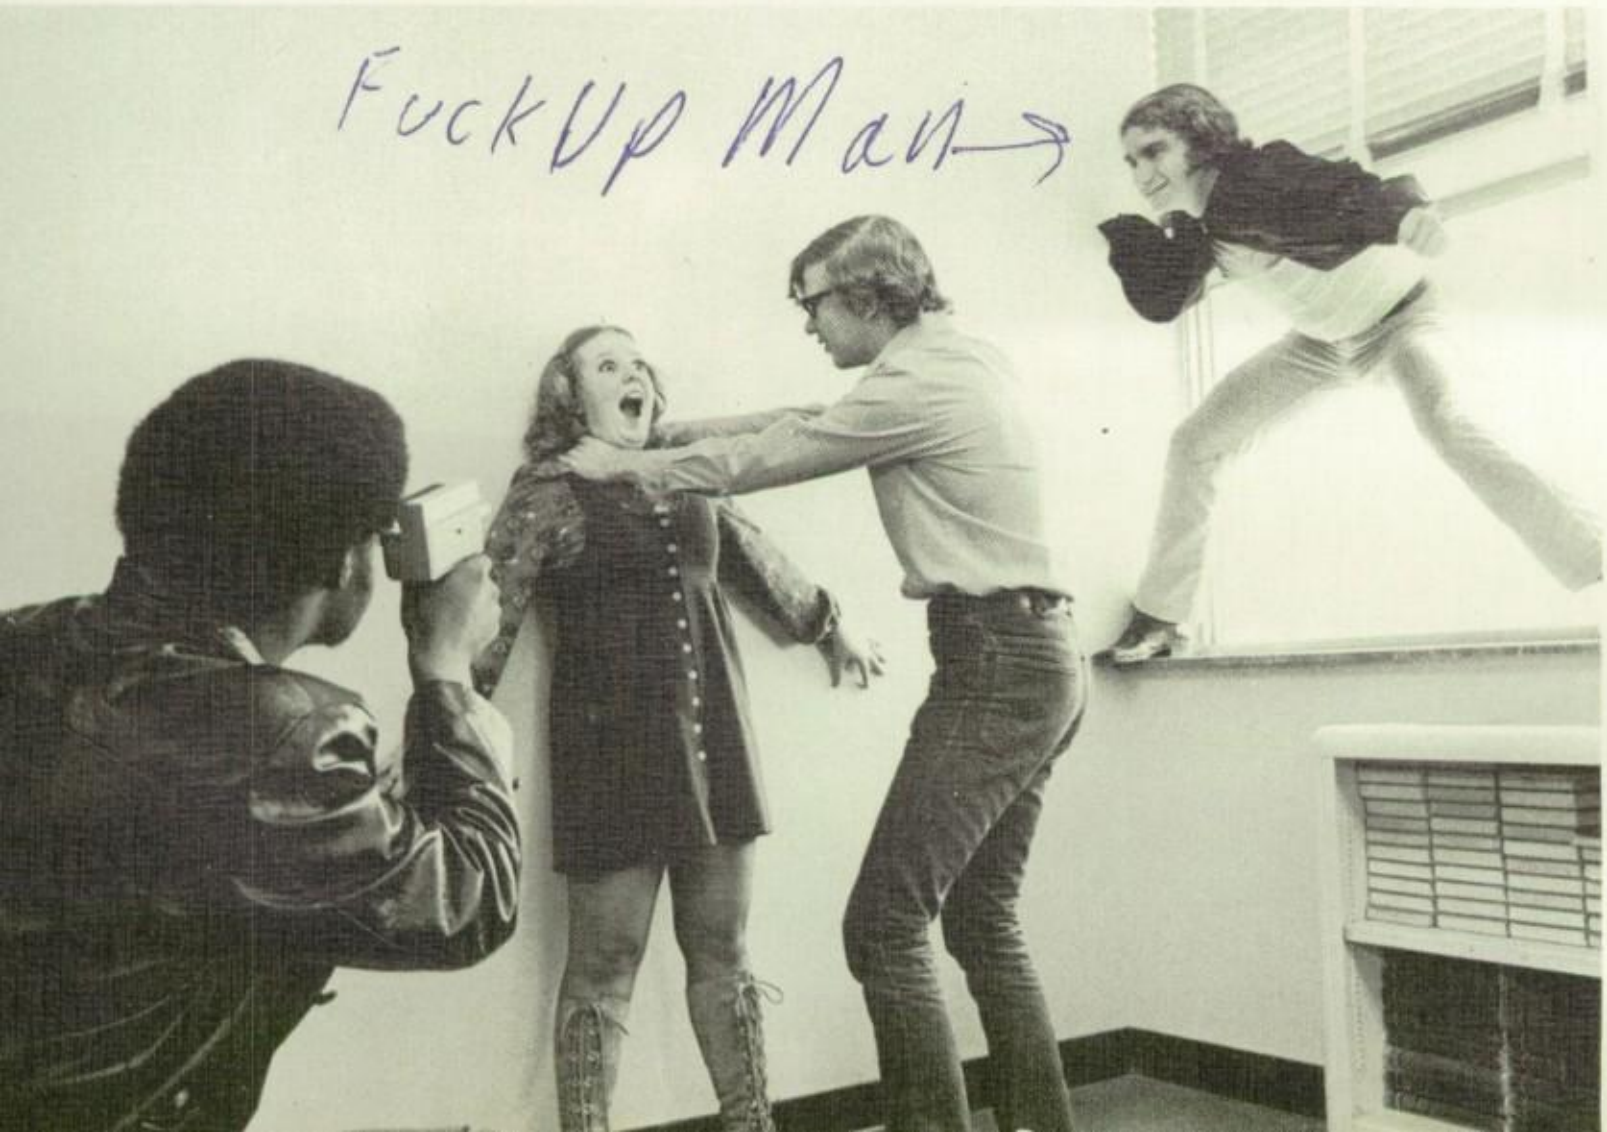
"The Taming of the Shrew" by the Mummers Theatre was viewed by senior English classes during their studies of Shakespeare.

Along with regular assignments, creative writing students contributed and presented skits in various assemblies.

Great Books pupils wrote script, and produced and directed films as part of their regular course work.

Journalism students enjoyed such speakers as local newsman Murray Ferris. Discussion covered the conflict between the news media and governmental agencies.

A tour of the Oklahoma Publishing Company and participation in local and national press conventions helped journalism students develop better communications techniques.



Occupational curriculum expands, offers practical pursuits, skills

Majority of new class offerings were in the Industrial Arts area, while more equipment was added to update physical education facilities.

Power mechanics, a new one-semester course, was combined with welding. Boys worked with small, combustible engines.

Another new class, Home Construction, gave experience to students in both business and ingenuity by building 8 x 12 feet barns.

Instructor Jim Cox explained that the boys went to the bank themselves, signed a note, and borrowed money for the barns.

Scott Bailey and Rick Metheny were two class members who sold and delivered the mini-barns.

Five new units were added to the weight lifting equipment adjoining the boys' gym.

Additional lockers were placed in the boys' and girls' dressing rooms in the two gymnasiums.

For the first time, boys' and girls' gym classes were combined for special activities, such as volleyball.

A record enrollment in modern dance classes was reported by Mrs. Elaine Brown, instructor.

She and eight students toured Europe last summer where they presented dance concerts.

Advanced classes journeyed to Tulsa in October to perform on the state teacher convention program.

in lab experiments in search of answers

Cluster plan changes resulted in marked differences in the language and science curriculum.

Only biology and earth science courses were offered here since Northeast High School was declared the science center for the north cluster schools.

Mrs. Ruth Bryant, chairman of the science department, reported that two new important pieces of equipment were purchased for Northwest last fall by the Board of Education.

Kits that measure the heat transfer from a warm to cool area through metal bars, and astrolobes to indicate star position above the horizon were utilized by students in earth science classes.

Northwest was the only cluster school to offer fourth year French.

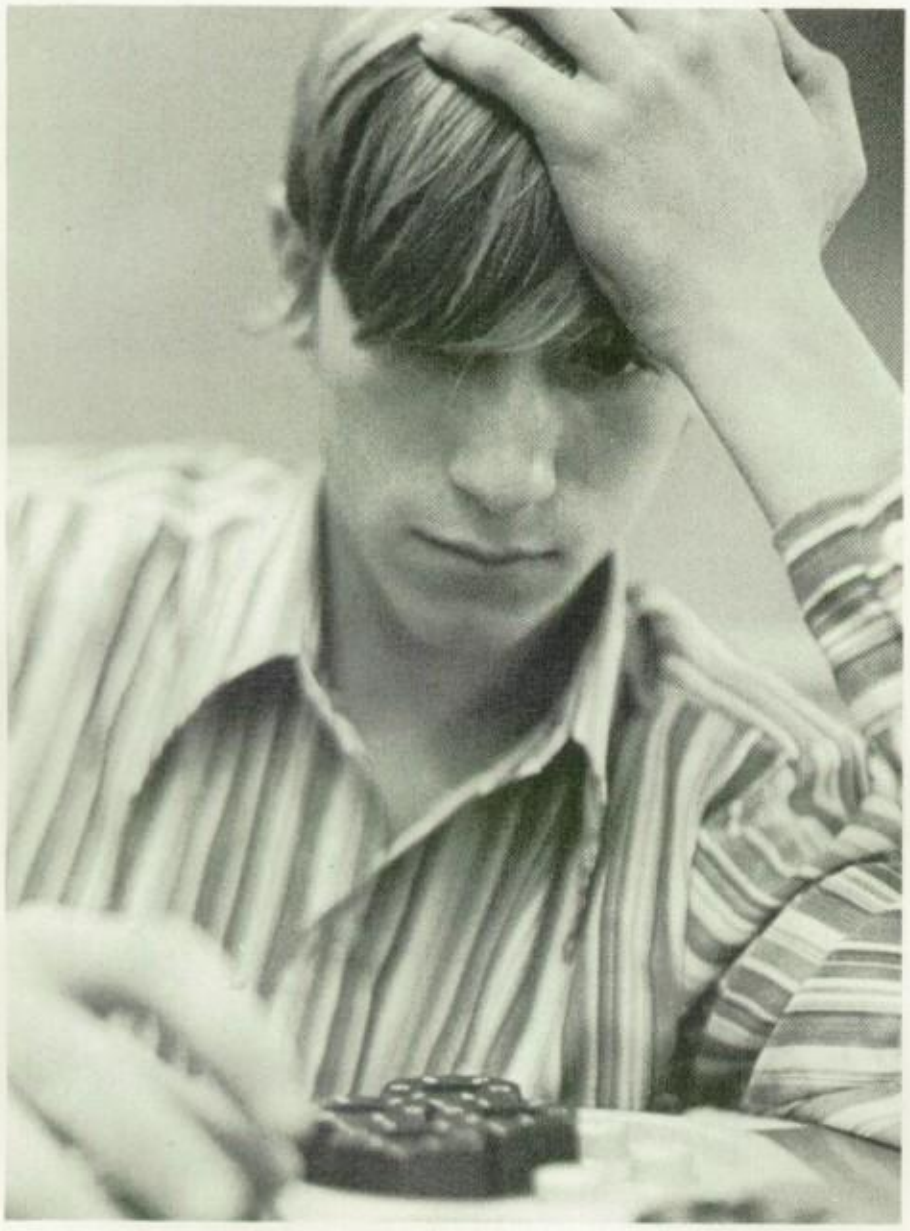
Mr. Leonard Marcotte, language department chairman, served as president of the Oklahoma City area chapter of the Federation of French Alliances.

Mr. Marcotte invited several native French people, who belonged to the organization, to speak.

Five advanced students, Gary Parsons, Cyndee Parks, Anne McNatt, Jamie Nicklas, and Beverly Farmer studied in France last summer.

Other language teachers who accompanied groups to foreign countries were Mrs. Faye Shinn, Germany; Mr. Mike Kessler and Mr. John Culbert, Mexico.

RIGHT: GAMES designed for mathematics students offer tips to James Cantrell and Jeff Kerr. BELOW: "I'M STUCK!" Freshman Joey James ponders a device used in his algebra class in the study of the theory of mathematical probability.



Mock court trial stimulates ideas for law classes

New electronics calculators were added to the expanding Business Education department, while mathematics classes continued to draw students from three cluster schools.

Algebra II and III, trigonometry, college algebra and analytic geometry were advanced classes available here for the 50 students bused from John Marshall, Northeast, and Classen.

In General Business and Economics classes, Instructor Earlene Herman utilized games which enabled students to simulate real-life situations.

During the study of judicial procedure in Mrs. Eve Williamson's business law classes, class members conducted mock trials.

They created courtroom atmosphere by rearranging the classroom; the judge donned the traditional robe, and lawyers prepared briefs for their cases.

Cooperative Office Education students, under direction of new supervisor, Mrs. Sue Kern, attended two-hour business machines classes and worked in the afternoon.

Primitive man 'gets once over' in class inquiry

Increased enrollment in religion classes and interest in the new anthropology course were marked by a variety of activities.

A cluster class, anthropology, enabled history buffs to explore new topics related to the study of mankind by combining history and science.

Student oriented investigation of history prompted students to visit museums, the zoo, and the Oklahoma Historical Society.

A "natural dig" at Pauls Valley highlighted the second semester when the major project was determining the cultural status of Oklahoma City.

The library, improved by new light fixtures, was utilized by students in researching material for oral reports.

Demand for library passes increased during record breaking heat in September as students took advantage of the new air conditioning.

COLOR SPOOLS aid Willie Ruth James and Jennifer Hoffman in learning to distinguish colors in the school nursery school laboratory. Debbie Roberts (center), member of the child care class, supervises the pre-school age pupils.

Creative courses enrich academic content

Special interests were pursued in cosmetology, home economics, and child care classes, composed predominately of girls.

Twenty-five girls in cosmetology classes kept pace with innovations in hairstyling and makeup techniques through the efforts of Miss Claudette Hoatson, instructor.

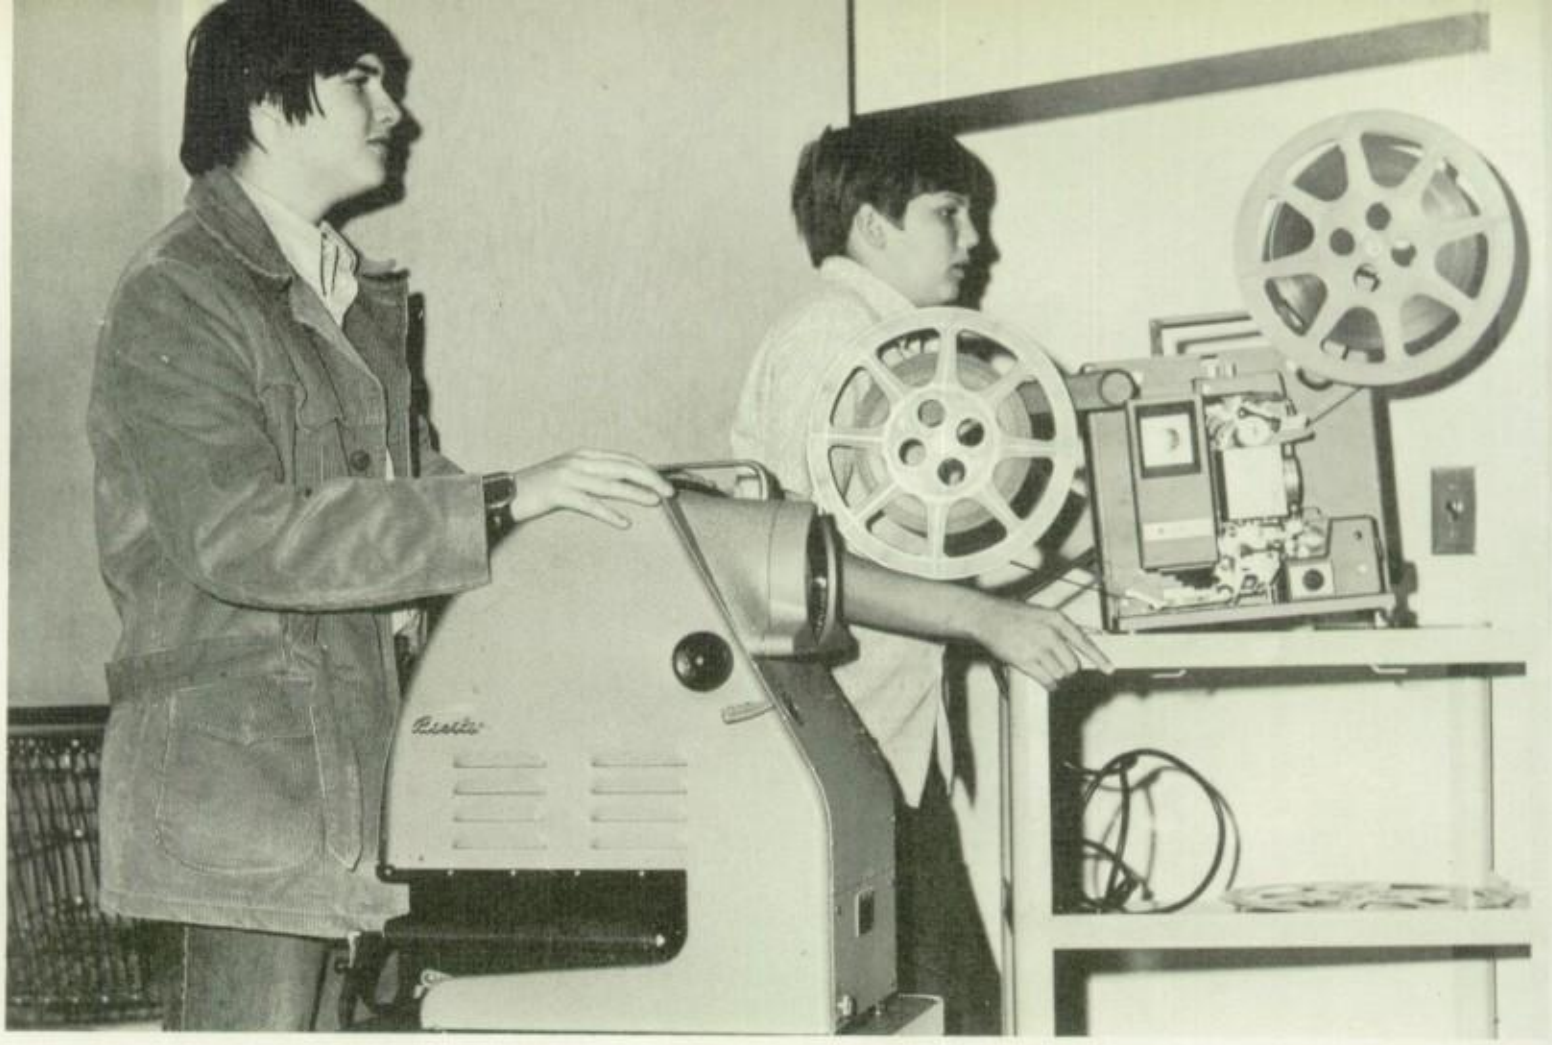
The Founders National Bank supplied sewing classes with 39 unclothed dolls which, when finished, were displayed in the bank before distribution to needy children at Christmas.

Two members of the advanced sewing class and Mrs. Helen Donnelly, instructor, won prizes for the dolls they dressed.

In its second year, 21 girls and one boy were enrolled in the laboratory school for child care.

Twenty advanced students were employed in 16 child care centers, while beginning students learned basic techniques in Annex B.

ARRANGING the display of prize winning dolls dressed by the advanced sewing classes is junior Etta Post.



DISTRIBUTION of audio-visual equipment is the job of aides Eric Guttery and Mark Fitzgerald.

Skills are sharpened in practical courses

Comprehensive courses designed to prepare students for the responsibilities of employment were provided by laboratory experiences and supplementary on-the-job training.

Students were employed by a variety of enterprises: Shauna Housley at the Mouse Trap, Charles Holbert at Lear Siegler Institute, and Kevin Chitty at Christopher's Smoke Shop.

Sponsored by Mr. Robert Dunlap, DE students held their annual banquet for their employers February 12 at the Top of the Mall.

Requests for audio-visual equipment kept 23 aides on call to operate and service machines.

A new self-loading projector and two tape recorders were added to the audio-visual center, supervised by Mrs. Pat Grimes.

Although Mr. Leonard Ogle, driver training instructor, reported a decrease in enrollment in his department, three cars were kept moving daily in driver's education.

Council mans phones to keep door open

TAKING OVER the main office, Charles Langer (Mr. Jim Nees) and Brian Birdwell (Dr. June Dawkins) relish their roles as administrators during Youth in Government Week.

"Knights on the Move," Student Council's adopted slogan, was especially apt for this year as a new era of student activities was launched under new leadership.

Mrs. Pat Nicholson, activities director, and Rodd Moesel, Council prexy, directed reorganization of Northwest's governing body.

Rather than the traditional advisory representatives, delegates were elected by classes. A new constitution and by-laws were approved.

Activities ran the gamut—from lunch hour patio parties to service projects.

At Christmas each advisory adopted an underprivileged child to supply with Christmas toys. Council members distributed the truck full of gifts to several city sections.

Despite the host of new programs, Council managed to sponsor the traditional Candy Cane and Cupid Expresses, Dog Patch Week, Knight and Lady of Friendship contest, United Appeal and Student Clothing Drives.

Special emphasis was placed on community involvement. Members participated vigorously in the campaign to pass the school millage bills January 25 and helped form KOSO (Keep our schools open) groups.

PTSA adopts new concept in programing

VIP's at Northwest were members of the Parent-Teacher-Student Association and the National Honor Society.

A new concept of programing was provided by PTSA leaders, who scheduled only three meetings this year.

The first meeting, September 30, featured a book review of "I'm Okay—You're Okay" by Rev. Bob Elliott, Christian Church minister.

The title of the best seller was adopted by the group for its year's theme.

Special events on the PTSA calendar included the annual Open House during National Education Week, Career Day in the spring, and a Christmas party festival for teachers and principals.

The National Honor Society recognized the top 15 per cent of the senior class and the top five per cent of the junior class.

Two seniors, Brian Birdwell and Ann Stewart, were nominated by society members to represent Northwest for the first time in the National Society scholarships program.

Don Piccolo dubbed club's poet laureate

Devotees of ideas, discussion and creativity soaked up culture in Great Books and Art Honor Societies.

Something new was added to the Great Books Club when members voted to designate basketball coach, Don Piccolo, poet laureate. His poetic wit added spice and interest to the club's events.

Several members ushered at Mummers Theatre and made plans to exchange programs with John Marshall and Northeast Great Books Club chapters.

Five issues of Hard Rain, mimeographed newspaper, dedicated to exploring controversial issues, were published.

Club members wrote and filmed their own movies.

Art Honor members visited the Oklahoma Museum of Art at Red Ridge where four school artists were among 10 city students to have drawings displayed.

Juniors Mark Knight and Bobby Knott and seniors Terri Kamenesky and Pam Lemmon submitted drawings for the Museum as well as entries in Young Talent in Oklahoma competition.

Activities provide outlets for specialties

Diverse interests were fulfilled by activities for future teachers, superior journalists, and girls excelling in sports.

A tutoring program was established by members of Future Teachers of America.

Delegates to the state convention, March 3-4, in Stillwater, were chosen according to points earned.

Twelve initiates qualified for membership in Quill and Scroll, journalism honor society.

At the annual banquet in May, "Golden Apple" awards were presented to people designated as most cooperative with the school press by publication staffs.

Sponsored by Mrs. Waynoka Odom, girls from fifth time block sports class made up the Girls 'O' Club.

To raise money for the club's annual trip to a state lodge, members manned concession stands during basketball and wrestling seasons.

Promotions boost music program as devotees of culture stay active

Working closely with the instrumental music department, Band and Orchestra Girls added their efforts to all its endeavors, while Symphony Hi-Notes' members supported the City Symphony.

New Band and Orchestra Girls initiates were dragged out of bed at 4 a.m. Saturday, December 11 to attend a breakfast where they were told what to wear that day for the initiation ceremonies.

Club members decorated for band and orchestra concerts and made a purple and gold velveteen and satin banner for the marching band to display in contests and parades.

Leaders for the group were Karen McAnulty, president; Patty Sinclair, vice president; Anne O'Grady, secretary-treasurer; Jean Griffith, parliamentarian-historian; Karen Miller and Judi Bartlett, sgts.-at-arms.

Head sponsor this year was Mrs. Dorothy Ford, assisted by Mrs. Judith Coker.

Members of the Symphony Hi-Notes ushered for the Oklahoma City Symphony at Civic Center Music Hall. They worked on promotion projects with symphony organizations.

AT AN INFORMAL meeting, members of Chi Alpha Mu observe the geometric design of cones. Members are C. Simpson, T. Love, C. Petter, S. Allen, Mrs. L. Seward, V. Jones, B. Dulan, R. Buchanan.

Opportunities to further their interests were provided for students excelling in mathematics and engineering by three school organizations, two of them honorary.

Formerly Honor Math, Mu Alpha Theta fulfilled requirements for the International Honor Society in its sixth year of affiliation with the nation's other 900 chapters.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted for 50 new members November 14.

The JETS (Junior Engineering Technical Society) sponsored field trips, a Christmas banquet, and hosted guest speakers.

JETS administered the Engineering Aptitude Test February 27 to 340 students.

In its second year, Chi Alpha Mu, freshman honorary math society, hosted parents at a dinner meeting at Val Gene's in Penn Square and attended the state convention.

Members participated in a "math bowl" contest with students from Jefferson junior high in May.

Honorary Societies tap speakers who obtain point requirements

Excellence in speech and drama was recognized by acceptance into the National Thespians and National Forensics League, honorary societies.

Required points were earned by students wishing membership into NFL and Thespians, and initiations were held in the fall and spring.

To remain an active member, a certain number of points was required by participation in tournaments, assemblies, and plays each semester.

Actors and debaters won honors at numerous tournaments, including those at Pryor, Dallas Jesuit, and Central State University.

As a service project, members of NFL collaborated to host a communications workshop for high school and junior high school students.

A new trend was featured at Thespian initiations. Music, skits, and dances replaced the traditional formal ceremony.

Through an opportunity initiated by the new "Opening Doors" program, Thespians introduced grade school children to the fine arts by use of demonstrations.

NFL fund-raising projects, such as sucker sales and garage sales, became a familiar part of school life.

A touch of the dramatic was seen in Jay Presson Allen's "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," produced by the drama department.

Dramatists finished the year's productions with a double-performance poetry assembly March 9.

Poetry, both whimsical and serious, was interspersed with music.

I lov
you

Three clubs promote social, racial pride

Three organizations, one of them new, made major contributions to the total school program.

Human Relations Visitation Day was hosted November 10 by Human Relations Council members. Ten City high schools sent 20 delegates to the 9 a.m.—3 p.m. sessions.

"It is hoped," said Cliff Hudson, Northwest Council president, "that this workshop serves as a beginning for future exchanges among city high schools."

National Ecology Week, October 25-29, was marked by special activities directed by sophomore Mike McNern, NW chapter president. Demonstrations, guest speakers and field trips were featured.

The Gospel Chorus made its debut at the faculty Christmas Breakfast.

Girls utilize talents in community service

In this year's club programs, cosmetology girls in VICA (Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America) stressed community service, while DE (Distributive Education) members carried on traditional activities.

Using their talents to help others, VICA girls styled donated hairpieces and delivered them to women at the county home for the aged.

Before Christmas, busloads of girls and ladies from the Cerebral Palsy Center visited the cosmetology annex where they received new hair styles from VICA girls.

The project proved so successful that students continued to provide their services to the center.

At the annual spring banquet Marla Weatherly was named club sweetheart; runners-up were Renee Hendrickson, Darlene Pippin, and Ruth Ann Kelley.

DE members participated in state leadership conferences March 15-17 and hosted employers at their annual banquet February 10.

Since all members were employed, several in sales positions, students displayed their marketing skills in designs in their department's showcase in the Red Hall.

Red Cross president, Bob Robinson, in his third year of active participation, worked in the headquarters of Operation Venus during the County Medical Association's campaign for Awareness of Venereal Disease.

School Red Cross projects were funded by proceeds from the annual doughnut sale held in October.

Senior Susan Page was presented a pin by the Mercy Hospital's Women's Auxiliary for more than 2,000 hours of service.

She was honored at the Auxiliary's annual awards dinner February 18.

Also a veteran worker in his field, library science, Tom McAmis served as vice president of the State Library Club, with which Northwest's chapter was affiliated.

He helped plan the state meeting at Oklahoma University in April.

In the spring Library Club members sponsored a Book Fair where second hand paperback books were sold.

Members all worked in the library during school time as aides.

Chorines please home audience, European fans

In constant demand for public and school performances were modern dance and drill team groups.

Mrs. Elaine Brown, sponsor, and twelve modern dancers traveled to eight European Countries last summer where they were booked for dance concerts.

In October, 20 girls went by bus to Tulsa for a program.

The Drill Team marched in the homecoming parade and twirling routines were presented by the corps at pep rallies and halftime shows at basketball games.

Senior Edith Frazier, who served as drill master for her second year, led the group in various colorful routines. Mrs. Jeannie Bobo and Mrs. Thomasina Johnson served as head sponsors.

The modern dancers presented their annual spring pageant April 20-21 and joined the drill team in performing on the Festival of Arts program March 16.

Both organizations sponsored money raising projects to help finance group activities.

Linguists share lore of culture to flavor study

Studies of foreign cultures provided Spanish and French Club members with a greater understanding of the languages they were studying.

The revival of El Club de Espanol included sales of wall plaques which contained the traditional Knight on horseback.

The plaques were molded and painted by club members. Funds collected from the sales went to Thanksgiving and Christmas charity projects organized by the club.

"Tertulias," or "social gatherings," brought Spanish Clubbers together for song sessions, Spanish feasts, and spirit sign painting parties before homecoming.

Spanish language posters, with colorful, appropriate drawings, were posted in the first floor hall where foreign language classrooms were located.

Bandsmen present concerts in elementary

Early morning band practices became a way of life for bandsmen who performed at games, on programs, and competed in marching contests.

Second semester, Honor Band members gave concerts at Northwest's feeder elementary schools to help increase interest in the school music program.

"Our purpose," said Brian Birdwell, band president, "was to recruit top musical talent for Northwest's instrumental music department."

In December, the band played at an ice hockey game of the Oklahoma City Blazers at the State Fairgrounds Arena.

In the District Marching contest, at the University of Oklahoma, the Knight band was awarded an "excellent" rating.

Karen McAnulty was crowned band queen November 5 at the halftime of the Putnam City game. Patty Sinclair and Paula Dills were attendants.

Designated orchestra center for two other North cluster schools, Northeast and Classen high schools, Northwest served as the meeting place for their bi-weekly rehearsals.

The orchestra provided Jana Keller, violin; Mary Folmar, viola; Brenda Anderson and Jeff Rucker, cello; and Wayne Elrod, string bass, for all-state honors.

Drum majors

Rodney, Brenda 'hitch-kick' band to firsts

Music comes in many forms, and Northwest's band proved that drum majors do too.

Juniors Brenda Anderson and Rodney Moore provided both a variety and a "first" in the organization's history.

Brenda was the first female drum major and Rodney was the first black to share the honor.

Brenda, a pert 5'4", and Rodney, 5'6", made a matched pair as they led the 90-member band.

Rodney learned most of his steps at a special clinic at the University of Oklahoma last June.

Most famous of all their routines was the "hitch-kick," a special step made up by Rodney.

As drum majors, the two led the band in drills, gave them marching cues, kept them quiet when they weren't marching or playing, directed several songs and marked the practice field in back of the school.

Both won awards for their musicianship when the band rated tops March 4 in the Central State music contest.

Brenda won two superior medals in district contests for cello, and Rodney won four orchestral pins at Kennedy and Northeast senior high before transferring to Northwest.

With flashing batons, majorettes grab trophies, glamorous friends

Upholding their traditional record-setting performances, majorettes took top honors at the Baylor University Clinic in Waco, Texas, last July.

They were awarded superior ratings on "Great Escape," a one-baton routine, and "Patton," in the two-baton category.

Seniors Kathy McKiddy, Jerianne Unger and Janet Yount received individual medals for outstanding performances in various areas of twirling specialties.

In the fall they presented "Patton" in state competition at the State Fair of Oklahoma, where they received top honors in the state.

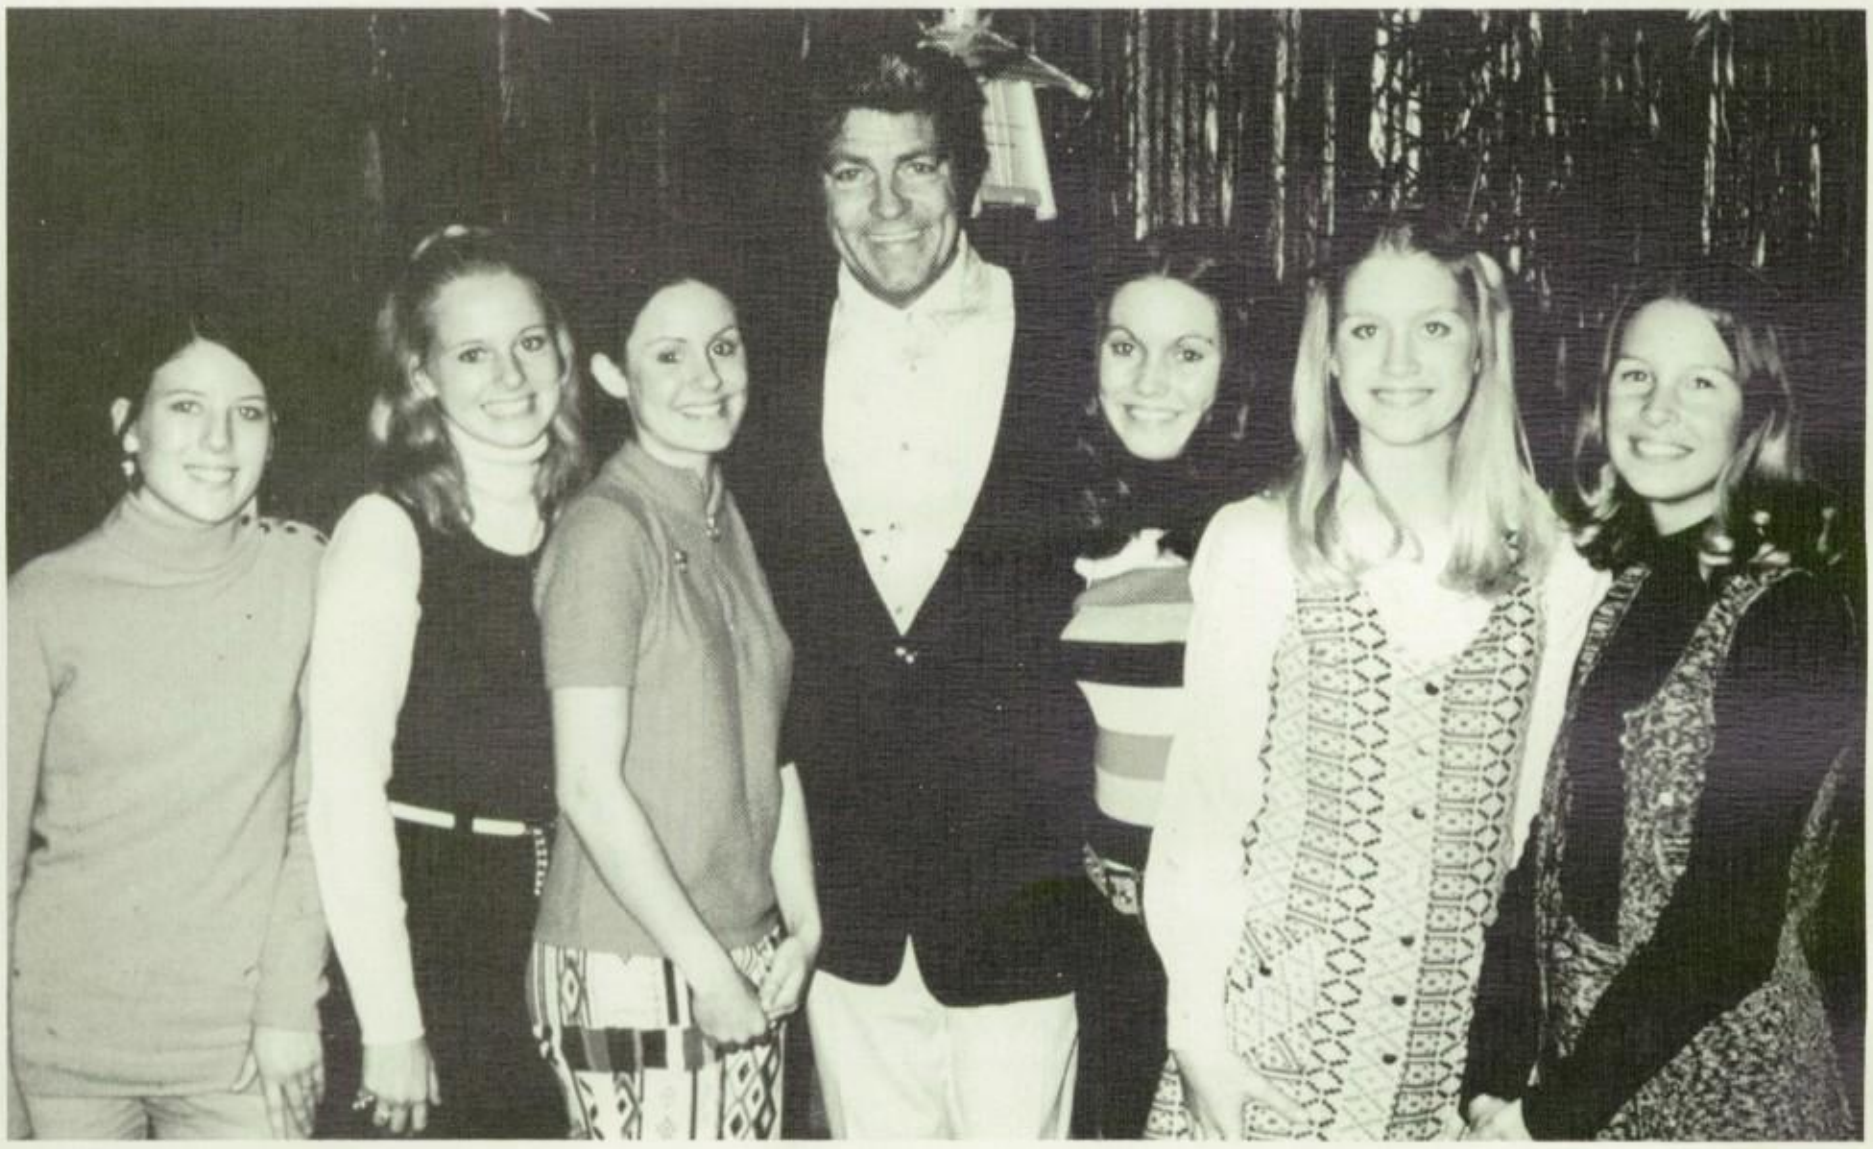
Majorettes performed throughout the year at pep rallies, football and basketball games.

Third year majorette, Jamie Duncan, served as the head majorette in her senior year.

New modes of twirling were used as majorettes demonstrated twirling techniques with such novelties as banjos, umbrellas, and hula-hoops.

The traditional fire routine was presented as part of the halftime presentation at the Putnam City game.

Mrs. Eby Grove, assisted by Mrs. Vickie Robertson, sponsored majorettes and accompanied them to summer clinics and contests.



Tyrol beckons Cry-slur choir to music fete

"Your choral group, the Cry-Slurs, has been recommended as one of the top school choirs in the United States."

So read the letter of invitation to the Graz, Austria, International Youth Music Festival July 11-15.

The request came from Professor Allen Flock, Youth Director of the Styrian Provincial Government in Austria, located in the heart of the Tyrolean Alps.

Along with nine other choral ensembles, they will represent the United States in the annual songfest.

All choruses combined to present the annual Christmas Spectacular. Modern dancers were featured in special numbers, and the stage craft class designed the sets.

Various small groups and soloists appeared on local television programs, including Danny's Day, in their efforts to enlist community support for their trip.

"RING THOSE CHRISTMAS BELLS!" harmonize boys' quartet members Renard White, Ronnie Hooper, Gardell White and David Nunn in their Christmas Spectacular.

Sportsmen elect all-sports queen

Sportsmen chose honorees for their various sports, and after an all-school election, crowned Cindi Myers All-Sports queen at the annual homecoming assembly October 8.

The Boys "O" Club nominated 10 candidates from which the student body selected the top five winners.

For the coronation ceremony, queen candidates were escorted by "O" representatives, David Warren, Mark Held, Keith Wilson, Mike Wooten, and Pat Harley.

Athletes turn publishers to enrich coffers

Fifty athletes who lettered in at least one of nine varsity sports composed the Boys' "O" Club.

During the summer, "O" club members sold advertising and published the annual football program. Proceeds went to finance their spring picnic and dance.

Four members of the club were chosen to be sent to the Fellowship of Christian Athletes' National Conference in Estes Park, Colorado.

Serving as this year's officers were Jim Beesley, president; David Warren, vice president; Bart Thompson, treasurer; and Phil Littlefield, secretary.

Sponsor was Mr. Dean Choate, head football coach.

FOOTBALL PROGRAMS are checked each week before games by "O" Club officers: David Warren, Jim Beesley, Phil Littlefield, and Bart Thompson.

Civic ambassadors lend support to school

One hundred fifteen members of the Key Club mixed work and play, not only to benefit the school and community, but to provide a recreational format for members as well.

Collection for United Appeal, ringing bells for the Salvation Army at Christmas, picnics, a dance, and a trip to Six Flags over Texas rounded out the year's activities.

The gala Sweetheart Dance, funded by the Homecoming Mum Sale, was held at the First Christian Church Youth Center December 18.

After a surprise announcement, Angela Brundage was crowned sweetheart, with Barbara Stoldt and Susie Wells serving as attendants.

Faculty advisor, Mr. Larry Mott, coordinated supervisory duties with members of the Club's affiliate, the Northside Kiwanis Club.

Four school representatives attended luncheon meetings of the Kiwanis Club each week.

Members parked cars for consultants who participated in the Career Day program March 7.

ONE of the many service projects of the Key Club is clearing the snow on the patio. Officers participating are John Reid, jr. vice pres.; Rod Cranford, vice pres.; Joe Haas, chapl.; Keith Wilson, pres.; Rick Metheny, sgt.-at-arms; Jeff Ritter, sec.; Bart Thompson, sgt.-at-arms; and Bob Tatum, treas.

From sales to service, club girls deliver

Nothing ever went on in Knightland but that Courtesy Club girls, Northwest's official hostesses, "got in the act."

Once again first prize was awarded the Key Club-Courtesy Club float in the Homecoming parade float contest.

Tagged "Can you bear it?" the float featured the bear mascot of John Marshall, homecoming foe.

Held at Uptown Kiwanis, a Tom Sawyer dance in January replaced the annual barn dance.

Members served as hostesses for PTSA Open House, Career Day, OEA Meetings, and the National Council of Mathematics Teachers' convention.

Baskets for needy families were collected and delivered at Thanksgiving and Christmas times.

Banquet hall takes on aura of 'big top'

Circus regalia provided a gala atmosphere for the Coronet banquet as members carried out the theme, "A Knight under the Big Top."

Table, wall, and entrance decorations at Penn Square's Town Hall were replete with clowns, balloons, and circus posters.

Banquet committee chairmen were Hallie Hughes and Terri Bink, inside decorations; Julie Jacobs and Tina Love, table decorations; Cindy Donalson and Terri Tucker, verse.

Kathy Hicks and Jo Ann McDonald, invitations; Jamie Slade and Sara Boulton, programs; Georgia Karountzos and Jan Moore, seating.

"Since this probably is the last year," said vice president Karen Hicks, "that Coronets will host the basketball and wrestling teams at the traditional dinner dance, we tried to put forth special effort to make this final event a success."

Tentative plans have been made for Coronets to sponsor a dance next year just for club members and dates.

Head sponsor was Mrs. Nellie Ecton, assisted by Mrs. Gwen Hanger, Mrs. Eby Grove, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette.

Pepsters fete sportsmen at dinner dance

Traditional activities were perpetuated by Cygnet pep club members who began sponsoring fund raising projects last August to finance the annual dinner-dance.

"This Knight is Yours" was the theme carried out in the decor for the banquet honoring the football and cross country teams December 10 at the Town Hall in Penn Square.

Life size Knights and castles set the tone for the occasion which featured the presentation of letters to football players and cross-countrymen by Coaches Dean Choate and Rex Irwin.

Guest speaker was Steve Aycock, varsity football player at the University of Oklahoma.

The Midnight Rebels' band furnished music for the dance.

Committee chairmen were Cyndee Parks, programs; Mary McLaughlin, verse; Brenda Bartlett, decorations; Debbie Formby, table decorations; and Sharon Blackburn, invitations.

Cygnets joined with other school pep groups to present skits in assemblies.

Other annual events included an ice cream social on the patio for new members in the fall and a spring picnic for boys who participated in spring sports.

Sponsors were Mrs. Eve Williamson, head sponsor; Mrs. Clovia Harrison, Mrs. Helen Willingham, Miss Dana Jones, and Mrs. Faye Shinn.

FUN AND GAMES are featured at the annual club officers' party. Building a pyramid are officers Sherri Hand, assistant treasurer; Judy Wilmoth, treasurer; Susie Wells, president; Harriet Hall, secretary; and Paula Fullerton, vice president.

Promotion of spirit projects occupied the 96 members of Court Jesters.

Making spirit signs, selling helium balloons for homecoming, creating a spirit chain to sink the Pirates, and a spirit Christmas tree were the group's principal projects.

Members fostered school spirit and were instructed by Varsity Cheerleaders on crowd control, jumps, motions, and acrobatics.

Selection of B, C, and Junior Varsity cheerleaders, with only members being eligible to try out, was conducted by the club.

"Here Come The Knights" was the name of the original cheer which earned the Varsity Cheerleaders a superior trophy rating for the tenth straight year in state competition.

During the annual University of Oklahoma Clinic July 5-9, the squad maintained superior ratings in the daily competition.

The girls were awarded the "spirit stick," presented annually to the team exhibiting the most consistent excellence and pep during the week's activities. A four-foot state trophy was presented to Dr. Dawkins in assembly.

PART of the regular routine before all school athletic events for officers in Court Jesters is making spirit tags. They are Cathy Myers, secretary; Cindi Donalson, vice president; Lisa Pruitt, treasurer; Barbara Hayes, president.

Rain, injuries plague Knights, but fortune favors Coach Choate

A pre-season poll taken by the Daily Oklahoman correctly placed Northwest third in the Mid-State Conference, tied with Grant, but the prediction didn't forecast the rain and injuries that plagued the Knight gridmen.

Highlighting the season was Coach Dean Choate's 100th career win, as the Knights defeated the Southeast Spartans 16-0.

Choate, in 16 years of football coaching, became the second coach in the history of the Mid-State Conference to reach this goal.

A 5-4-1 season record unfolded as the Knights came from behind in the season's opener to down the Classen Comets, 19-14.

The following week, Northwest dealt the Capitol Hill Redskins their 38th straight loss as fans watched from underneath umbrellas.

After the victory over Southeast, the Knights rebounded from a 35-6 loss to Midwest City and overpowered the John Marshall Bears in a 24-21 homecoming victory.

The next four games included losses to Grant, Lawton, and Putnam City, and a 16-16 tie with Ardmore.

An impressive 22-12 win over the Douglass Trojans closed out the season.

Leading the Knights in season scoring was senior David Warren, who ran for eight touchdowns, tallying 48 points.

Seven players were benched during the season with various injuries, including starters, John Baker and Mark Held, who were each out for seven games with ankle injuries.

LOOKING for a receiver is Knight Quarterback Reggie Bruce as the Bears' Mike Shelly puts on pressure.

Dismal JV season ends on a happy note

Gearing for prospective positions on next year's varsity squad, Juniors managed just three wins while dropping seven games.

Although the three victories were shutouts, the Junior Varsity combined with sophomore gridders for two of the wins.

In the season's finale, Juniors trounced the undefeated sophomores 38-0 in a game sponsored by the O-Club.

"Sophs had been giving juniors a hard time," said Junior Varsity Coach, Kamel Shanbour, "because of the tenth graders' victorious record. So our team was especially gratified by the lopsided score."

High scorer for the season was John Kyle, with 42 points.

Ray McDonald, whose specialty was left foot kicking, regularly place kicked for the varsity.

In the B-Squad-Junior Varsity game, four players scored six or more points each.

They were Pat Patterson, David Towe, Dan McGinley, and John Kyle.

It's 20 straight wins for NW B-squadders

Never having experienced the bitter disappointment that goes with losing are the 40 players on the sophomore football team.

Under the direction of new head coach, Johnny Johnson, the undefeated sophomore grid squad cinched the City championship by beating Northeast 24-0 at Viking Stadium November 13.

The team marked its twentieth victory over a two-year period as the same players came from last year's freshman squad.

Last year's frosh also won the City title after an 8-0-1 season.

For the first time special awards were presented to the outstanding players by Coach Johnson at the club's banquet.

Recipients of plaques were Randy McDaniel, Jeff Hampton, John Dahlgren, Rick Tatum, Leonard Brown, and Paul Goolsby.

The C-Squad, freshman team, won seven games but was jinxed by southside schools.

Capitol Hill and Grant raced by the Little Knights. Key men in the squad's successes were Craig Carter, Jeff Jackson, Scott Riddell, and Greg Diehl.

Underclass thinclads' crew looks to '72

Termed by Coach Rex Irwin as the best underclass varsity squad in school history, cross-countrymen compiled a perfect season record in dual meets.

Next year's team will be returning all seven members of this year's starting squad.

At the first Invitational Meet of the year at Putnam City West, harriers captured first place after scoring 41 points.

Sparked by Tom Stotts, Kent Edwards, and Jim Cheever, the Knights went on to take third place at Mid-State and second in the annual City Meet.

At the annual Cygnet Pep Club banquet, December 10, Coach Irwin awarded 17 letters.

Volatile new coach favors colorful style

Two of the biggest assets for the '71 Knight cagers were a balanced scoring attack and the overall quickness of the players.

This combination netted Northwest a third spot in Mid-State Conference ranks and a 14-12 season record under new coach Don Piccolo, from McGuinness High School. He replaced Don Van Pool, now coaching at Moore High School.

The volatile Coach Piccolo favored pressure defense and the fast break to compensate for the Knights' lack of height.

"One of our greatest assets," said Coach Piccolo, "was our bench." "We had about eight good steady players, all capable of playing at any time."

Fulfilling the predictions of a preseason's poll of conference coaches, the Putnam City Pirates finished first with an undefeated record.

Knight basketballers opened their season December 3 against Putnam City West with five returning lettermen and one starter, from the '71 squad.

Lone starter from last year's state finalists squad was Mike Thomas, who took over the postman position.

Filling out the starting five were seniors, Steve McNeil, Keith Wilson, Jeff Ritter, and junior Robert Newman.

Spot starters for the varsity were the sophomore duo of Jon Yeagley and Keith Hammack as well as junior Charlie Woods.

The roundballers faced Enid in the initial contest of the regional tournament and overcame the Plainsmen 64-49.

A full court press and precision shooting by Steve McNeil enabled the cagers to capture a 78-63 victory in the regional finals.

The Knights were eliminated from the State Tournament by 3rd ranked Muskogee, 67-60, and Bartlesville College, 61-59.

The cagers closed their season with a 14-12 record and for the first time in eight years failed to qualify for the state playoffs.

Utilizing the talents of the star studded sophomore squad, the Junior Varsity and sophomore teams compiled 9-5 and 13-4 records, respectively.

Coach Johnny Johnson interchanged sophomores with juniors on the Junior Varsity squad, and during the season four players were tapped for regular varsity action.

They were Robert Newman, Charlie Woods, Jon Yeagley and Keith Hammack.

During the early part of the season, the Junior Varsity held a six-game winning streak.

Highlight of the sophomore contests was the 83-76 overtime victory over arch rival Putnam City.

Hammack led the little Knights' attack with a blistering 31 point output against the Pirates.

One of their losses was a 67-66 heartbreaker to Douglass.

During Coach Fred Holloway's first season as head wrestling mentor, varsity wrestlers turned in their best performance when they placed third in all-city meets.

Three seniors qualified for state tournament competition.

Kevin Smith was the leading scorer with a 25-2 record. He was regional champ and runnerup state champion.

Second leading scorer was David Warren, with a 21-4 season record, second place in regionals and fourth in the state.

Ralph Gill, other state qualifier, earned a 20-5 record.

Team captain, Emmett Winston, compiled a 17-5 individual record.

Record number of 16 lettermen report for track and field meets

A record number of 16 returning lettermen reported to Coach Rex Irwin for track and field meets.

Top performers for the '72 season were Barry Goines, Jim Beesley and Terry Thompson in the shorter distance events, Jon Wertz, the high jump, Jim Cheever, Tom Stotts and Kent Edwards, distance runs.

Coming from behind, the '71 Knights garnered the All-City tournament title by beating second place Star Spencer.

In earlier meets of the '71 year, George Campbell won the 440-yard dash at the Lawton Invitational Meet and the Jaycee Meet at the State Fairgrounds Arena.

In two years of competition, he won 27 gold, silver and bronze medals and was recognized in National Track and Field magazine as one of the nation's top runners.

Don Ming won the 100 yard dash consistently all year and won fifth in the 220 yard dash at State, then went on to the Meet of Champions.

Buddy Stewart placed first in the mile and second in the half mile run in city competition.

Talent laden swim team splashes to title

"Most manpower Northwest's swim team has had in years," was Coach Kamel Shanbour's assessment of the '72 tank squad which won the conference crown.

Seniors Henry Bockus and Charlie Crittenden, junior Bruce Bockus and freshman Roy Sudik grabbed top honors at State, Mid-State and city swim meets.

Knight swimmers finished 9-1 in dual meet competition, second in the city meet, and first in Mid-State Conference.

In city competition, Northwest totaled 95 team points behind first place John Marshall's 105 points.

Mid-State competition found the Knights on top with 86 points, John Marshall second with 76 points and Putnam City third with 54 points.

The previous conference record of 1 minute, 57.6 seconds in the 200 yard free style was blasted by first place man, Henry Bockus, beating the record by 3 seconds.

Bruce placed second with another record time of 1 minute, 57.2 seconds.

Seasoned, strong mound staff enhances baseballers' fortune

Tabbed in pre-season polls of conference coaches as one of the top high school hurlers in the state, Jim Yaeger returned to lead the '72 Knight baseball team.

Other standout lettermen filling starting positions were Larry Leverich, Craig Cotton, and infielders Bart Thompson and Steve Watters.

The '71 baseballers were handicapped by schedule changes which necessitated playing three games in two days.

At the beginning of the season, the team was making a gallant bid for Mid-State supremacy with a six-game winning streak when Putnam City overtook them.

The most pleasant surprise during the season for Coach Winston Havenstrite was the discovery of a freshman standout, Jon Yeagley, who showed his versatility by playing four positions.

Sportswomen launch rebuilding program

"Rebuilding our program this year," Coach Waynoka Odom explained, "was necessitated by the '71 graduation of six or eight sports stars."

However, Mrs. Odom pointed out that the enrollment of a larger number of freshmen girls than ever before brightens the prospects for the future.

Only five letterwomen returned from the '71 girls' teams that won City softball and volleyball championship.

All 25 girls enrolled saw action in competitive sports with teams from City area schools.

Only returnees in softball and volleyball, Nora Gerred and De De Gerlich, led neophytes through losing seasons, although "B" squads won two dual matches in volleyball.

Freshmen Linda Wiemers and Renee Rogivue turned in outstanding performances in volleyball competition.

Girls "O" Club president, Carol Capron, said that, although several girls were standouts in their respective sports, "this year's roster lacked balance, experience, and all-around proficiency."

In intramural action, non-varsity athletes saw action in league play and individual competition.

Directed by Student Council intramural chairman, Pat Patterson, events included a frisbee contest, wrestling, and pushball.

Most contests were held on Saturday mornings.

Wrestling competition featured matches between freshmen lettermen and non-varsity upperclass grapplers.

Winners included freshman Marc Yates in the 136 pound division; junior Phil Rey, heavyweight, and Rick Stone, Don Snyder, and Carl Metcalf.

Don Chesler, freshman, swept not only top school frisbee intramural honors, but also third place in national competition.

Because Don won $250 in national contests, he is now classified as a professional and is ineligible for amateur tournaments.

In second year, class is noted for achievement

The 703 members of the sophomore class, no longer being the youngest class, rejoiced in their new status.

For the second consecutive year, football players from this class fielded a team which posted a perfect season's record.

Six sophomores rated roles in Knights' Theater productions, while five others were tapped for Mu Alpha Theta, honorary mathematics society.

After evaluation of Step Tests (Sequential Test of Educational Progress) which sophs took in October, counselors conferred with soph counselees concerning future curriculum plans.

Juniors set goals for action-packed year

Signifying the obligations descending to the Squires as a last step toward Knighthood, the sword was passed from senior class president, Rick Metheny, to the junior class president, Frank White, in the traditional end-of-school ceremony.

Already juniors have been selected for key positions in Northwest's clubs and organizations for their senior year.

The 696 members of the class will head Student Council, publications, and other groups vital to the total school academic and activity programs.

College loomed bigger on the horizon as counselors checked juniors' credits for graduation.

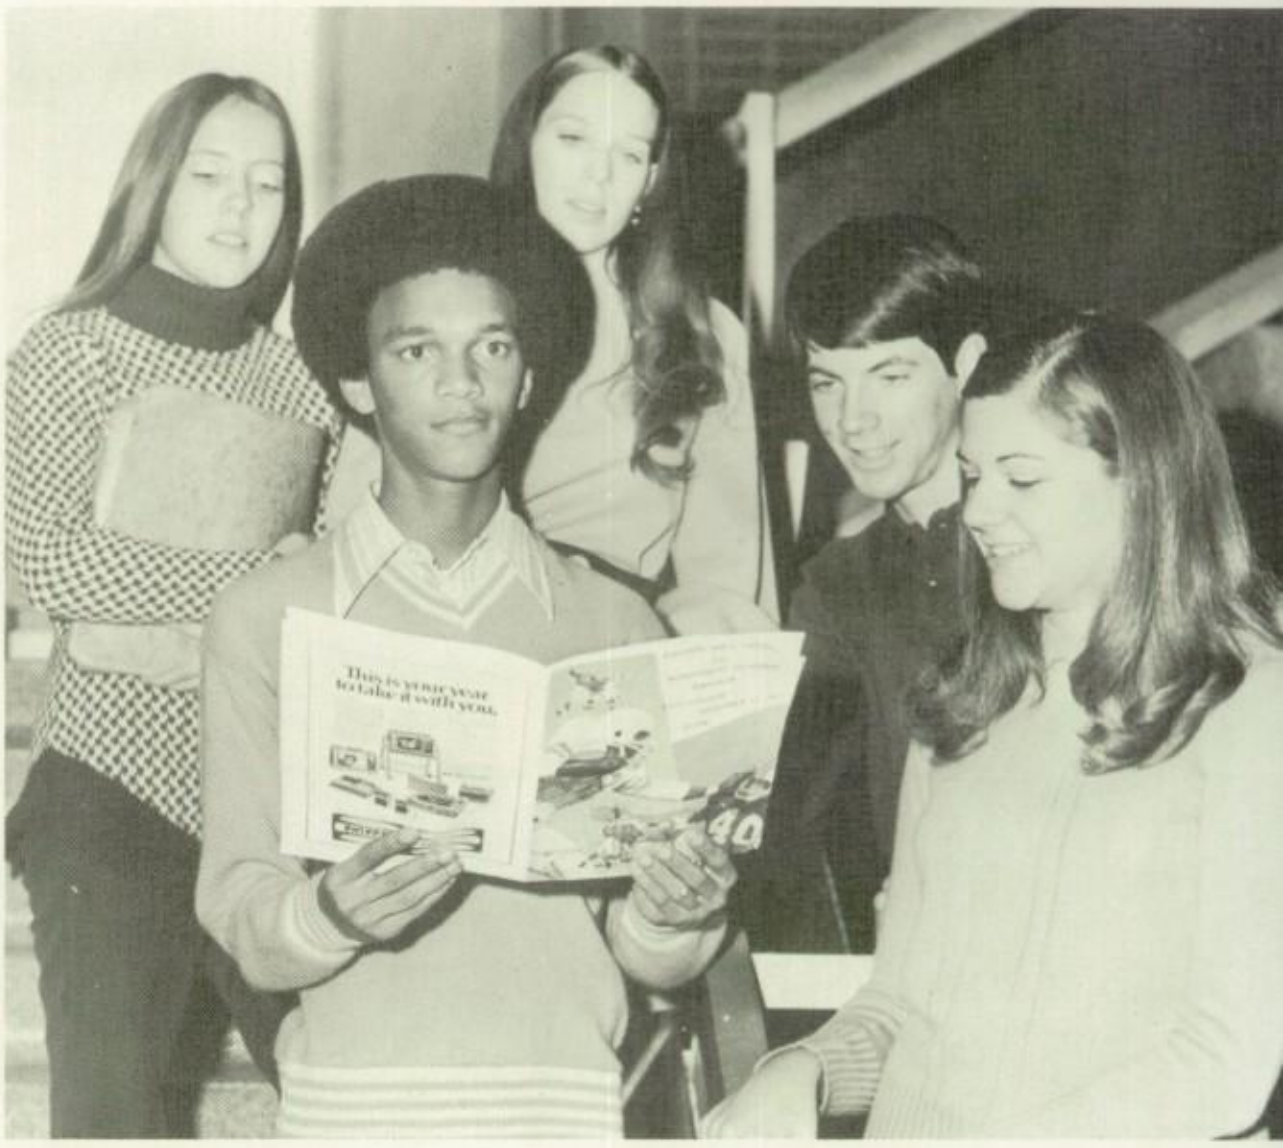
When PSAT/NMSQT scores arrived in January, five juniors placed in the top five per cent in the nation.

They were Carla Seeby, Eddie Parker, Karen Miller, Ben Allen, and Rebecca Parker.

Highlights of second semester were the receiving of long awaited class rings and the planning of the junior-senior prom.

A romantic atmosphere pervaded the ballroom at Hotel Oklahoma where the dance was held.

The theme "The Knight of Your Dreams" was the decorative motif.



MAKING ARRANGEMENTS for the basketball programs are junior class officers Connie Mock, v. pres.; Frank White, pres.; Cindy Donalson, sgt.-at-arms; Ben Allen, sec.; and Cindy Chesher, treas. Funds from sales were used for the prom.

Class struggles to maintain NW traditions

Life style of the 600 seniors in the class of '72 was geared to change!

In three years, the Oklahoma City school system underwent more turmoil than in all its previous history.

As a result of a federal court order, some 150 members of the class were bused across town during their sophomore year.

When original boundaries were restored the following year, most of these students returned to Northwest to complete their last two years.

Juniors were the first to participate in the innovative Cluster Plan, adopted by the School Board the fall of '70.

As a member of the North Cluster, Northwest sent students to learning centers at Northeast and John Marshall.

But a big effort was made by class members to preserve traditions of their "home base" school.

"Perhaps," said Rick Metheny, class president, "we were a closer knit class because of the tremendous problems we encountered."

IN SEARCH of class gift ideas, class officers check Sir Bedivere, gift of the class of '64. Officers are Rick Metheny, president; Jan Brown, secretary; Keith Wilson, sgt.-at-arms; Jill Brown, v. president; and Randy Ridley, treasurer.

From Madison to May Avenue, message same

From New York City's Madison Avenue to Oklahoma City's May Avenue, "thinking young" is getting to be a habit with the nation's business executives who recognize the tremendous buying power of the Now Generation.

Since infancy, teens have been exposed to spectacular advertising techniques on television, radio and billboards.

They know more about products and merchandise than perhaps any other age group.

Owners of bank accounts polled at Northwest stressed the importance of learning all aspects of credit, time payments and charge accounts. This personal experience can teach teens how to better manage their money.

"THIS MAKES CONTRAST BRIGHTER," technician Roy Grey explains to Diana Hill at EALE'S TV AND RADIO SERVICE, 2906 N.W. 23, phone 946-7337 or 947-2106.

Are Knights big spenders? Shield poll tabs consumers, rates teen trade substantial

Consumer practices and buying power of Northwest students were researched by senior Beverly Gallop, advertising manager of The Shield.

Consensus of the survey Beverly conducted indicated students spend an average of $3 per day. This includes records, books, gasoline, class rings, flowers, cleaning, car repair, cosmetics and snacks.

Considering that the poll respondents indicated that approximately 65 per cent of these expenditures was spent in the community, some $4500 a day pours into local business enterprises.

Forty-five per cent of the poll participants reported having checking accounts; 20 per cent have charge accounts.

National statistics show that teenage consumers account for more than 20 billion of the nation's purchasing power, while nearly two million teenagers have their own charge accounts.

Round Table advertisers value the good relationship that advertising builds with teen clientele.

Now generation makes mark on economy

Oklahoma City's business leaders recognize that the impact of the teenagers upon consumer spending and the total economy is of considerable significance.

One reason for this special influence lies in the fact that the 20 plus billion spent by them annually is channeled into a limited number of industries, such as clothing and entertainment.

Furthermore, teenagers indirectly influence many family purchases, such as a second car, television set, and telephone.

Almost half the brides in America are teenagers, and here, too, the industries catering to newlyweds want very much to satisfy the teenage taste.

Nearly 2,000,000 teenagers have their own charge and bank accounts.

So "thinking young" is getting to be a habit with the nation's business executives who recognize the tremendous buying power of the Now Generation.

Round Table advertisers value the good relationship that advertising builds with teen clientele. They realize the students make up approximately 50 per cent of the city's consumers.

LEFT: "DID YOU HEAR what we said?" The sounds of '72 fall on receptive ears. ABOVE: OUT OF THE MOUTHS of frosh, sophs, juniors, seniors come exciting sounds.

Dolly-
I think it is really funny that we look so much alike, & people always think were twins, or sisters, and all the stuff you use to tell me what people said. I remember the first day we met, we didn't think we looked a like. we should have started hanging around with each then. Be good this summer & have fun in GEORGIA! after this year I'll never forget you, because, who can forget a person who looks like ya!! This summer were have to do some crazy things, so call me when ya get back from Georgia. Good luck with Calvin. Love ya! (your twin sis)
Charm Thomas
(book ends (remember that

We've heard it all . . .
We've said it all . . .
Who listens anymore?

We laughed, we cried
We sang, we sighed
Time shoved us past the door

Again . . . quiet halls, dim lights,
But not for long,
young voices with a brand new score
sing a sweet, new song.

Fade Out

It happened here—a special time, place, and 'very special' helpers

Explosive sounds of the '70's were reflected in the unifying theme of the design of the '72 Round Table.

Staff members attempted to treat the basic idea with major emphasis on a comprehensive chronicle of the year.

To present this story of the year, yearbook staffers relied upon numerous sources for assistance.

Cooperation of administration, faculty members, and students, essential for any school endeavor, was always forthcoming.

Mrs. Charlotte Eaker, Journalism I teacher, and Mrs. Liz Burdette, school publications director, served as advisers to the 50 members of the Round Table staff.

PRODUCTION NOTES: The 1972 Round Table was printed on 80 lb. Saxmark Embossed Matte Paper in Bodoni Bold and News Gothic type. There are approximately 4,500 black and white photographs and five color transparencies arranged within the 9 by 12 inch pages. Consisting of 248 pages, the book is bound together using a 160 point Binders Board.

The Fabrikoid cover is metallic gold textured in a Shrunken leather grain. The Knight and title dies are embossed and hand-rubbed with a royal purple overtone to highlight the design areas. Newsfoto Yearbooks, located in San Angelo, Texas, printed 1660 copies of the book.
